

CONSUMER RELATIONS

This program provides semi-professional training for those who seek immediate Consumer Relations employment in non-profit agencies, government, education, or business such as utilities, telecommunications, and finance. Positions include, but are not limited to: consumer affairs representatives, client related government jobs, and community advocates.

Select options in left navigation for information about individual programs.

Consumer Science & Design Technologies Website (<http://mtsac.edu/csdt/>)