

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

The Environmental Studies program provides students with an integrated and critical understanding of the natural environment and human interactions with it. This program is designed to prepare students to research, analyze, and propose solutions to the myriad environmental challenges facing the world today through a well-rounded curriculum combining classroom, laboratory, and field study instruction.

Select options in left navigation for information about individual programs.